City of Pleasant Hill Announces Two Promotions

PLEASANT HILL, Iowa – July 7, 2015 – The City of Pleasant Hill is pleased to announce the promotion on Madeline Sturms and Rick Courcier, two City employees. “Each of these promotions is well deserved as both Madeline and Rick bring many years of knowledge and experience that is an asset to each of their departments,” said Mayor Sara Kurovski.

Madeline Sturms is promoted to Senior Planner. Madeline joined the City of Pleasant Hill in 2013 as Associate Planner/Stormwater Coordinator, and has spearheaded the regulations involving zoning and stormwater. As Senior Planner, she will continue to focus on community development, providing leadership and general administration of development regulations while serving as the staff representative for City boards and commissions.

Rick Courcier is promoted to Recreation Manager. Rick, who was previously Recreation Coordinator and a 10-year veteran at the City of Pleasant Hill, will help implement and direct the municipal recreation activities and programs of the park and recreation division for seniors, adults, and youth, including cultural arts, physical activities, special-interest classes, and summer programs.

“Madeline and Rick have been instrumental in the growth of the City of Pleasant Hill, and we are proud to recognize their contributions with these promotions. Each of them will continue to aid in the City of Pleasant Hill’s growing community as they provide innovative leadership with their new roles,” said Ben Champ, Assistant City Manager / Community Development Director of the City of Pleasant Hill. “We look forward to the continued value they bring to the City of Pleasant Hill and the citizens we serve.”
